IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

action, as deliberately erroneously portrayed by the defendant's response (Objection to the Removal Petition) of September 13, 2004.

The Plaintiff seeks all relief, declaratory judgment, injunctive relief, remedy, etc.

Furthermore, a jury hearing/trial is respectfully demanded (Fed. R. Civ. P. 38) at the earliest opportunity as the various rights (see above) of the Plaintiff and his children continue to be violated. In addition, any time delay in dealing with this matter will continue to adversely affect and damage the safety and well-being of the minor children whose rights are being violated by the state of Indiana, its courts, the Defendant and her spouse.

2. Servicing of all parties, ...: The Defendant, Alison Gratzol, has been served.

However, the Plaintiff intends to add additional individuals and entities to the list of defendants and serve them appropriately. The Plaintiff hereby seeks the court's immediate leave permitting him to add to the list of defendants without prejudice and adverse effect to his current filing in this matter.

The Plaintiff reserves the right to, in the future, add and/or seek to add to list of defendants.

3. Discovery issues....: As this case relates to various violations over a time period by a number of individuals and entities, discovery is to be undertaken by Plaintiff potentially from such individuals as the current defendant, members of her household including but not limited to her current spouse, the relevant personnel and officers of the courts (Elkhart Superior Court #

5. Pending and anticipated motions, briefings, ...: No current motion by the Plaintiff pending.
However, he hereby requests, and will file motions for immediate leave for him to add to the
