SUBJECT: Change in FNCC Package Price

We truly appreciate all of your support of the FNCC throughout 2007! There are many more wonderful conferences planned for 2008 as well.

After more than five years at the current package price, we have found it necessary to increase the cost in order to maintain the FNCC and ensure that there are adequate resources and staffing. Although the cost of maintenance for the facility and other needs have steadily increased over the last few years, we have made conscious efforts to operate efficiently with the current package price.

Effective December 1, 2007, the package price for FNCC conferences is increased to $435. If an applicant is confirmed to attend a 2008 conference by their zone office prior to December 1 (meaning that they have received a letter of confirmation), they will be confirmed at the $395 price. However, individuals who have not been confirmed by their zone office, even if an application has been submitted, will be required to pay the new package price. This will help to maintain fairness.

We appreciate your understanding in this matter and look forward to seeing you at the FNCC!
