District Awards Banquet Wrap-up

First of all, just what is the District Awards Banquet? This is the night that the Ojibwa District sets aside to recognize all of its adult volunteer leaders, for both the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts. A simply scrumptious meal was put on by the K.C.Hall, here in Marshfield – as witnessed by the photo to the left. Yes – Marsha personally thanked me for this particular pose. Then, awards and accolades are given to various people, for service above and beyond the call of duty. Nominations for these awards came in from each pack or troop and were judged by a select Blue-Ribbon panel on the District level. Either that, or it was a flip of a coin. Any way, this just a swell way for the adult leaders to socialize and recognize each other. How about penciling it in for next year?

And the winners are . . .

Our own Sam Voight started the evening off by recognizing all of the Troop 385 Assistant Scoutmasters by presenting them with special awards for all of the rock solid assistance.

Then

Our own Sam Voight was awarded a “Scouter of the Year” Award by the District. Congratulations to all recipients and THANK YOU to everyone in the Troop for everything that everyone does.
